VI. Old Business:
The Committee noted that there was sufficient funding to fully fund the remaining three projects. Scott Brinton moved that the three top ranked projects: Iglitzin Farm, Serendipity Farm and Snow Creek Uncas Preserve Taylor, were worthy of being fully funded; Lorna Smith seconded. Ray Hunter disagreed on fully funding the Iglitzin Farm project; discussion was opened. Lige Christian called the question. The motion passed with all in favor, with the exception of Ray Hunter voting in favor of funding the top three ranked projects, but in opposition to fully funding Iglitzin Farm.

Iglitzin Farm
Phil Andrus moved that Iglitzin Farm be declared worthy of funding; Lorna Smith seconded. The Committee voted with all in favor; Ray Hunter agreed to fund the project, but remained in opposition to fully funding it.

Serendipity Farm
Phil Adrus moved that Serendipity Farm be declared worthy of funding at the level requested; Rob Harbour seconded. The Committee voted all in favor.

Snow Creek Uncas Preserve Taylor
Lige Christian moved that Snow Creek Uncas Preserve Taylor be declared worthy of funding at the level requested; Ray Hunter seconded. The Committee voted all in favor.

The Committee then commented on each project.

Iglitzin Farm: Lige Christian commented that the project met almost all of the criteria, had excellent conservation and restoration projects, significant historical value and was part of a longstanding corridor.

Snow Creek Uncas Preserve Taylor: Lorna Smith said that all three projects ranked very highly on fulfilling other related projects in the community, which increases the value of the acquisitions and is invaluable for helping to preserve salmon runs. Ray Hunter was a strong proponent of the project because he grew up fishing on Snow Creek and because of its wild steelhead run.

Serendipity Farm: Rob Harbour called the project one of the top two projects for him since he has been part of the Committee; it protects its land and also the farms (including Midori Farm) around it. Lige Christian added that the owner has been involved in restoration projects for a long time. The Committee agreed that the long term value of the project was very important.

Lower Duckabush River Estuary Open Space Project: Dave Wilkinson led discussion in support of the overall project in order to encourage other related projects that would rank well with the Jefferson County Conservation Futures Committee. The Committee appreciated the great potential for future projects that are tied to the larger area. Lorna
